Coach's Corner

What does player development mean? It starts with a strong focus on technical skills (primarily ages 7-13) while maximizing touches on the ball: passing, shooting/finishing, receiving, dribbling/running with the ball, turning, skill moves (scissors, Cruyff, feints, fakes) etc. From there, a focus on reading the game: decision making/problem solving (e.g., when to shoot, when to pass, when to dribble/be creative). Identifying spaces to attack, when/how to keep possession while looking for an opportunity to go forward & how to create overloads, etc. Technique & decision making -- the foundation of quality soccer players! -Jim Schrot | Director of Coaching
